

In Dhaka, “climate change refugees” move from the countryside and into slums due to environmental degradation. Like millions of others, Alam Mia has been forced to make the teeming capital his home. Follow his journey as he leaves his homestead in search of livelihood in Dhaka, and struggles for survival.